Prayer Updates – helping us to pray more effectively

- * Please pray for Sr Martin Joseph, who is due to be admitted to hospital for tests on Wednesday 8th February. In particular, we pray for courage for Martin, as one of the tests carries significant risk.
- * Continue also to uphold Sr Anne in prayer regarding her health situation.
Both Anne and Martin Joseph are very grateful for everyone's prayers.
- * Sr Marian's niece, Laura Fitzpatrick, is now receiving palliative care. Please pray for her husband Luke, her parents Dorothy and Des and for all the family.

Thank You

Sr Dominic Savio would like to thank those Sisters who responded to her survey on 2020, 2021 and 2022.

She would now be very grateful to those Sisters, especially in Elmleigh and Marino, who have still not responded to her request for information by the end of January, to reply as soon as possible. MANY THANKS!

The first Le Chéile Conference since the pandemic took place in Mullingar on February 2nd and 3rd.

Today, February 6th, is the first public holiday being held in Ireland in honour of St Brigid. You will notice that the Le Chéile logo is in the shape of the St Brigid's Cross and the lines signify keys to learning and the search for truth.

Members of the religious congregations involved in the Trust, as well as school principals and board members, attend this conference. What is unique about Le Chéile is that two pupils from every school are also invited. They have separate workshops etc and also prepare a prayer ritual in which we all take part. The names of the founders of all the congregations are chanted individually by a pupil, as a litany, and all respond, for example - 'Elizabeth Prout - lover of the poor: pray for us'. This acknowledges the identity of each congregation and appreciates our togetherness. 'Le Chéile means togetherness.' (Máire)

A few of us attended the recent Le Chéile Trust Conference.

The photograph shows Sisters Clare and Anne with Joe Leonard, Principal of Cross and Passion College, Kilcullen and Maree O'Rourke, Principal of Maryfield College.

Marino ~ St Brigid's Feast

St Brigid's Feast and the first day of Spring has been celebrated, and eager gardeners (John Vianney & Miriam) are 'turning' the soil in Marino!
